What is Senjojiki Cirque?

Senjojiki, located at an altitude of 2,612m and accessible by Central Alps Komagatake Ropeway, is a cirque (semi-circular depression) formed by glacial erosion around twenty thousand years ago. The literal meaning of "Senjojiki" is "the width of a space where 1,000 tatami mats can be placed", and this is where Senjojiki Cirque gets its name. Senjojiki Cirque is attractive during all four seasons; you can admire the alpine plants in summer, the autumn leaves, and the azure blue sky and snowscape in winter, etc.
